

Connecting landlocked developing countries to markets : trade corridors in the 21st century /

Arvis, Jean-François (1960-)

World Bank,
©2011

Electronic books

Monografía

Transport corridors support much of the developing countries' trade and are indispensable to the 31 landlocked developing countries. These countries are home to 360 million people, with the largest concentration is Sub-Saharan Africa. Logistics costs and unreliability of access corridors put these countries at a distinct disadvantage. Traditional approaches have stressed infrastructure investment and the development of international agreements as the main solutions to improve corridors and facilitate access to markets

Transport corridors support much of the developing countries' trade and are indispensable to the 31 landlocked developing countries. These countries are home to 360 million people, with the largest concentration is Sub-Saharan Africa. Logistics costs and unreliability of access corridors put these countries at a distinct disadvantage. Traditional approaches have stressed infrastructure investment and the development of international agreements as the main solutions to improve corridors and facilitate access to markets

Transport corridors support much of the developing countries' trade and are indispensable to the 31 landlocked developing countries. These countries are home to 360 million people, with the largest concentration is Sub-Saharan Africa. Logistics costs and unreliability of access corridors put these countries at a distinct disadvantage. Traditional approaches have stressed infrastructure investment and the development of international agreements as the main solutions to improve corridors and facilitate access to markets

Transport corridors support much of the developing countries' trade and are indispensable to the 31 landlocked developing countries. These countries are home to 360 million people, with the largest concentration is Sub-Saharan Africa. Logistics costs and unreliability of access corridors put these countries at a distinct disadvantage. Traditional approaches have stressed infrastructure investment and the development of international agreements as the main solutions to improve corridors and facilitate access to markets

<https://rebiunoda.pro.baratznet.cloud:28443/OpacDiscovery/public/catalog/detail/b2FpOmNlbGVicmF0aW9uOmVzLmJhcmF0ei5yZW4vMjI1Nzg4NTY>

Editorial: Washington, D.C. World Bank ©2011

Descripción física: 1 online resource (xxiv, 274 pages) illustrations, maps

Mención de serie: Directions in development : trade

Bibliografía: Includes bibliographical references and index

Contenido: Introduction and overview -- The access problem of landlocked developing countries and the realization of their economic potential -- The political economy of trade corridors : relations between landlocked developing countries and their coastal neighbors -- Managing trade corridors : ingredients for success, and how to measure it -- Transit systems and regional co-operation -- Improving transit regimes and border management -- Regulatory reform of trucking -- Improving access with alternative modes of transportation -- Conclusions and recommendations

Copyright/Depósito Legal: 811493473 813533271 816833999 821634900 961517468 962637597 992401225 993911630 1091081030

ISBN: 9780821384176 electronic bk.) 0821384171 electronic bk.) 1283065975 9781283065979 6613065978 9786613065971 9780821384169 0821384163

Materia: Landlocked states Transportation- Developing countries Transit, International- Developing countries Transit by land (International law) BUSINESS & ECONOMICS- International- Marketing POLITICAL SCIENCE- International Relations- Trade & Tariffs BUSINESS & ECONOMICS- International- General BUSINESS & ECONOMICS- Exports & Imports Commerce Economic history Landlocked states Transit by land (International law) Transit, International Transportation

Materia Geográfica: Developing countries- Economic conditions Developing countries- Commerce Developing countries

Autores: Arvis, Jean-François ( 1960-)

Enlace a formato físico adicional: Print version Connecting landlocked developing countries to markets. Washington, D.C. : World Bank, ©2011 9780821384169 (DLC) 2010017086 (OCoLC)610019317

Punto acceso adicional serie-Título: Directions in development (Washington, D.C.). Trade

---

Baratz Innovación Documental

- Gran Vía, 59 28013 Madrid
- (+34) 91 456 03 60
- informa@baratz.es