Monografía

This publication updates and expands Environmental Enrichment Information Resources for Nonhuman Primates: 1987-1992. It is current through March 1999 and covers literature published since January 1992. As a resource manual, it is intended to be used for understanding the current regulations, developing ideas for enrichment applicable to laboratory and zoo settings, and introducing the reader to organizations and publications that can help in the design of the enrichment plan or give access to additional resources
