Where once Vladimir Horowitz gave his legendary concert, in the big hall of Tchaikovsky Conservatory in Moscow, 12 Cellists of the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra celebrate their Russian première. They belong to the top orchestra of the class and are celebrated in the whole world. Within the scope of the first international cello festival in Moscow, dedicated to the big "Slava", the cellist Mstislav Rostropovich, they present a great program from "Angel Dances" and "Dance around the World". This concert in Moscow crowns the 36 years old history of 12 cellists
