Analítica

The author has outlined Lacan's studies of hysteria during his many years of teaching. Based upon Freud's clinical studies of the case of Dora, with additional references to Elisabeth von R and, also, to the Beautiful Butcher's dream, she has emphasized Lacan's conception of the I (je) in opposition to that defined by ego psychology. The dynamics of the game of identifications in Dora's case have been established along with the duality desire/demand in the Beautiful Butcher's dream. Besides this, she discusses the question of masquerades as a resource to femininity and dedicates special attention to the concept beyond enjoyment
