Analítica

Classcraft's mission is to make school more relevant and meaningful by creating playful and collaborative learning experiences that teach the whole child. We believe that the classroom can be reimaged using technology, games, and storytelling to create a learning environment that is culturally relevant to today's youth. Their future is likely to be very different from what we know today. It's our belief that fostering non-curricular cognitive skills like collaboration, empathy, leadership, communication, and self-expression will be a critical piece in helping prepare them for the changes they will face as adults
