

The doomswoman [an historical romance of old California. /

Atherton, Gertrude Franklin Horn (1857-1948.)

Duke Classics,
2014

Classic literature Western stories Fiction. Historical fiction. Western fiction. Historical fiction.

Monografía

This refreshingly innovative take on the age-old theme of star-crossed lovers is set during the period when Mexico and the U.S. were warring over the control of California. The lovely Dona Chonita is loyal to her family's pro-Mexico position in the conflict, but a chance encounter with a silver-tongued Lothario named Don Diego throws everything she holds true into question

<https://rebiunoda.pro.baratznet.cloud:28443/OpacDiscovery/public/catalog/detail/b2FpOmNlbGVicmF0aW9uOmVzLmJhcmF0ei5yZW4vMzQ4NjcxMDY>

Título: The doomswoman OVERDRIVE EBOOK] an historical romance of old California. Gertrude Atherton

Editorial: Cleveland Duke Classics 2014

Descripción física: 1 online resource

ISBN: 9781634213530 electronic bk) 163421353X

Materia Geográfica: California- Fiction Californie- Romans, nouvelles, etc California. <https://id.oclc.org/worldcat/entity/E39PBJt8p3GDkhpJkC9y6FY3wC>

Baratz Innovación Documental

- Gran Vía, 59 28013 Madrid
- (+34) 91 456 03 60
- informa@baratz.es