Título: The Grumpy Economist

Editorial: Standford John H. Cochrane 2021

Descripción física: 1 recurso online

Nota general: This is a blog of news, views, and commentary, from a humorous free-market point of view. After one too many rants at the dinner table, my kids called me "the grumpy economist," and hence this blog and its title. In real life I'm a Senior Fellow of the Hoover Institution at Stanford. I was formerly a professor at the University of Chicago Booth School of Business. I'm also an adjunct scholar of the Cato Institute. I'm not really grumpy by the way! Any opinions I express are mine alone and do not represent the position of the Hoover Institution or Stanford University
