

AfL in special schools : a case study

Teachers TV/UK Department of Education,
2010

Nonfiction television programs

Instructional television programs

Material Proyactable

St. Christopher's in Wrexham is one of the largest special schools in Wales. They have a wide range of children requiring support with learning and behavioural difficulties. Award winning Headteacher Maxine Pittaway and her team have developed practical enterprise education schemes that work alongside the mainstream academic curriculum, enabling students real opportunities for self-assessment, peer mentoring and independent learning. The students and teachers are successfully running sustainable social enterprises from within the school premises--including a hairdressing salon, café and car valeting service--where students can gain confidence, practical social skills, and feed their experiences back into the classroom and their everyday learning. Maxine and her team have found that these opportunities for independent learning fit well into the Assessment for Learning model that they ve embedded throughout the school

<https://rebiunoda.pro.baratznet.cloud:38443/OpacDiscovery/public/catalog/detail/b2FpOmNlbGVicmF0aW9uOmVzLmJhcmF0ei5yZW4vMzQzOTgyMTQ>

Título: AfL in special schools : a case study

Editorial: [England] Teachers TV/UK Department of Education 2010

Descripción física: 1 online resource (14 min.).

Mención de serie: Academic Video Online

Nota general: Title from resource description page (viewed Mar. 5, 2012)

Formato físico adicional: Previously released as DVD

Lengua: In English Original language in English

Materia: Special education- Wales Educational tests and measurements- Wales Social entrepreneurship- Great Britain

Entidades: Brook Lapping Productions. pro

Baratz Innovación Documental

- Gran Vía, 59 28013 Madrid
- (+34) 91 456 03 60

- informa@baratz.es