

For a father's pride /

Allen, Diane,
(Romantic fiction writer)

Thorpe,
2016

Large type books

Historical fiction

Fiction.

Historical fiction.

Domestic fiction.

Historical fiction.

Monografía

1872: Young Daisy Fraser is living in the Yorkshire Dales with her beloved family. Her sister Kitty is set to marry handsome, wealthy Clifford Middleton. But on the eve of the wedding, Clifford commits a terrible act that shatters Daisy's happy life. She carries her secret for the next nine months, but is left devastated when she gives birth and the baby is pronounced dead. Soon she is cast out by her family and has to make her own way in the world. When further tragedy strikes, she sets out for the bustling streets of Leeds. Daisy longs for a love of her own, but doesn't realize that the key to her happiness may be closer than she thinks ...

<https://rebiunoda.pro.baratznet.cloud:28443/OpacDiscovery/public/catalog/detail/b2FpOmNlbGVicmF0aW9uOmVzLmJhcmF0ei5yZW4vMzcyODY0NDI>

Título: For a father's pride Diane Allen

Edición: Large print edition

Editorial: Leicester Thorpe 2016

Descripción física: 1 online resource (376 pages (large print))

Mención de serie: Charnwood

Audiencia: Adult

ISBN: 9781444827743 144482774X

Materia: Social conditions.

Materia Geográfica: Yorkshire (England)- Social conditions- 19th century- Fiction Leeds (England)- Social conditions- 19th century- Fiction Yorkshire (England)- Social conditions- 19th century- Fiction England- Leeds.
<https://id.oclc.org/worldcat/entity/E39PBJkHtKJtQ3FrRhX4W6VXBP> England- Yorkshire.

Baratz Innovación Documental

- Gran Vía, 59 28013 Madrid
- (+34) 91 456 03 60
- informa@baratz.es

