"The 'Classroom instruction that works' book comes to life in this engaging new production focused on its use in elementary school, [middle school, or high school]. Join Ceri Dean, coauthor of 'Classroom instruction that works, ' and a group of elementary, [middle, or high school,] educators as they leverage elements from the 'Classroom instruction that works' framework to transform their practice and their communities. Through the video, you'll sit in on a planning session among Dean and the teachers and support personnel, watch how the lessons unfold with students--through success and challenge, and listen in as the team reflects on lessons learned. The 'Classroom instruction that works' framework has helped countless schools and districts on their roads to academic success. Now you can see firsthand exactly how one district puts the framework to use!"-- Container
